CARLOS A. GIMENEZ  Mayor, Miami-Dade County

We continue to work with The Beacon Council, our official economic development partners, in diversifying our economic development efforts throughout our community. Miami-Dade County is leading the way in the tourism and international trade sectors, anchored by our top economic engines of PortMiami and MIA. We are also becoming a center for technology and start-up business with Microsoft opening its first “Microsoft Innovation Center” in North America, and the arrival of “Code for America” fellows to our community. Our efforts are guided by the Beacon Council’s One Community One Goal initiative, bringing focus to these economic development efforts across all fronts. I look forward to working with the Beacon Council in the year ahead to build on these successes and to bringing jobs, innovation and new business ventures to our growing community.

REBECA SOSA Chairwoman, The Miami-Dade Board of County Commissioners

As we look back on the successes of the past year, I commend and congratulate the Beacon Council for continuing to fulfill its ongoing mission of promoting our large and small businesses. During my tenure as Chairwoman of the Miami-Dade County Commission, I have had the pleasure of partnering with the Beacon Council on countless initiatives and programs that have helped bolster economic development. Through careful attention to the unique needs of our diverse business sectors, the Beacon Council has proven to be a vital resource in helping large businesses expand in and relocate to our community. Besides assisting large businesses, the Beacon Council has made it a priority to support small business owners via outreach events and development workshops. Our small businesses are the backbone of our community, and their economic vitality is of paramount importance to our economy as a whole. Heading into 2015, I feel confident that the Beacon Council will continue to be one of this community’s most valued partners and I am looking forward to working together to make our economy as vibrant and dynamic as the culture we so enjoy.

SHELDON T. ANDERSON  Chair, The Beacon Council

As Chair of The Beacon Council this past year, it has been my privilege to work alongside Miami-Dade County Mayor Carlos A. Gimenez, County Commission Chairwoman Rebeca Sosa, the Board of County Commissioners and President & CEO Larry K. Williams in promoting Miami-Dade County as a leading global business destination. This year, we joined Miami Mayor Tomas Regalado, the Spain-U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the Greater Miami Chamber of Commerce in a mission to Spain, Miami-Dade County’s top international partner. We held nine (and counting) small business workshops, hosted Site Selectors from New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Georgia, and completed more than 42 new location and expansion projects. We recognized corporate citizens and organizations that contribute to our community at the 12th Annual Beacon Awards Ceremony held at the Ritz Carlton in Key Biscayne. This past year, we also welcomed new private-sector Member-Investors to The Beacon Council. Our growing group of Member-Investors continues to build this organization and make our community stronger. I invite business leaders to become more active and engaged in The Beacon Council because continued leadership and vision is needed as we work together to strengthen the economic vitality of Miami-Dade County.

SHIVER ENTERTAINMENT
Expansion » South Miami

The Shiver Entertainment case shows the burgeoning tech scene in Miami-Dade County and the ever-increasing importance of sourcing local talent when deciding a new company location.

Shiver Entertainment is a digital gaming start-up that established their headquarters in Miami-Dade County in 2013 and is now expanding their existing four-employees and 3,800-square-foot operation to include production and development teams in order to create the “world’s best” mobile and PC games. The company’s executives have backgrounds in leading some of the world’s top gaming companies, including Electronic Arts, Microsoft Corporation, Activision and Zynga.

Shiver considered locating the production and development side of the company in other cities better known for tech talent, including Los Angeles, Dallas, Detroit, Vancouver, and Silicon Valley. However, the company ultimately chose Miami-Dade County due to the strength of our local workforce and economy, and the inducement package coordinated by The Beacon Council and Enterprise Florida.

With assistance from The Beacon Council and the State of Florida with financial incentives, permit facilitation, labor recruitment, and business contacts and referrals, Shiver decided to expand operations to include production and development teams in Miami-Dade County, a decision that will create 60 new high-paying jobs and a capital investment of $2.35 million in a newly renovated space in the City of South Miami.

The Beacon Council works to grow small businesses in Miami-Dade County

The Beacon Council, in partnership with Miami-Dade County, conducted the Open for Business Small Business Workshop series throughout the county. The workshops provided resources designed to assist small businesses in reaching growth and job-creation targets.

Launched in September, the workshops featured expert panelists who discussed business topics identified as priorities in each area including starting a business, accessing capital, marketing, doing business with the government, doing business with the military and taking advantage of business incentives. Incentives discussed included Enterprise Zone and Brownfield site incentives; benefits available when making capital investments and delivering new jobs in most target urban areas. The PortMiami FTZ-281 foreign trade zone program also was highlighted. In addition, support organizations provided one-on-one discussions during the final portion of the workshops.

The workshops were held in Opa-locka, North Miami Beach, Coconut Grove, Liberty City, Westchester, Miami Lakes, Miami Springs, North Miami, and Palmetto Bay; attracting a total of 402 participants. The Beacon Council also provided support to more than 100 small businesses who contacted our offices because of the workshops.

Access to additional small business development forums, workshops, and other tools were made available by The Beacon Council via the weekly newsletter, along with collaborative programming with organizations throughout the course of the year. The Beacon Council also recently entered into a strategic alliance agreement with the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA), jointly committed to strengthen and expand small business development in Miami-Dade County.

The Beacon Council surveyed workshop participants and found most of the respondents had been in business for five years or more and that the majority classified themselves as being in the personal services industry. More than half rated the information provided during the workshop as excellent with financial resources ranking as the most important topic, and networking a valuable component of the workshop.

The Beacon Council and the Beacon Council Economic Development Foundation took the lead role in developing the One Community One Goal (OCOG) Target Industry Strategic Plan (2012-2017). This plan provides Miami-Dade County with a roadmap for its future economic development success. It is a community-wide effort that provides a unified vision to create an environment where significant job creation occurs with a focus on new higher-paying jobs in target industries. It coordinates all economic development activities. It is designed to be holistic and implementation requires involvement by a broad spectrum of Miami-Dade County organizations.

BACKGROUND

Given the changes in the global economy, the recession and the competition from cities throughout the world for new investment and job creation, a Miami-Dade County Target Industry Strategic Plan was needed.

COLLABORATION

The One Community One Goal Steering Committee is comprised of more than 50 public sector, private sector, education, and community organization leaders. In addition, the committee received input from more than 5,000 participants including survey responses from more than 4,100 people.

IMPLEMENTATION

The One Community One Goal five-year plan provides strategic recommendations aimed at growing jobs and creating long-term sustainable economic prosperity in Miami-Dade County. These recommendations were divided into these categories:

- Education and Workforce
- Physical Infrastructure
- Entrepreneurship and Innovation
- Business Climate and Public Policy
- Economic Development Marketing
- Target Industries

Target Industry Taskforce Groups have been created to assist with the implementation of the recommendations and to allow the community to become more actively involved with OCOG.

Education has been identified as the foundation of OCOG and is the key driver of the target industries. As a result, OCOG has established an Academic Leaders Council (ALC). The purpose of the ALC is to create an educational ecosystem that aligns with the business community to ensure worker availability and to ensure that skill sets keep pace with business needs.

In addition to the OCOG recommendations, six communitywide priorities were outlined. A communitywide priority is an initiative or improvement that maximizes Miami-Dade County’s economic development potential across the board. These are not specific to any single target industry, but all business sectors benefit from implementation of these priorities. Community-wide priorities include the following goals:

- Continue to develop a globally renowned educational ecosystem.
• Plan for and invest in intermodal transportation systems that anticipate Miami-Dade County’s long-term needs.
• Build resources to support consistent and competitive international economic development marketing.
• Become a vibrant entrepreneurial and high tech community.
• Improve the availability of modern, sophisticated convention space.
• Continue to improve Miami-Dade County’s Targeted Urban Areas.

Demonstrating a solid record of success, The Miami-Dade County Beacon Council, received its reaccreditation this year from the International Economic Development Council (IEDC), a nonprofit organization dedicated to raising the profile of the economic development profession.

The Beacon Council was originally accredited in 2000. Today, it is one of two accredited economic development organizations in Florida and 42 in the Americas.

The AEDO designation lends credibility to the organization's economic development efforts. To acquire the accreditation, the local partnership went through a comprehensive peer review process that included a documentation review and an on-site visit.

Our staff members have more than 250 years collectively of economic development experience and have received national recognitions from their peers and industry associations.

As such, we are a nonprofit organization marketing Miami-Dade County globally on a budget. The Beacon Council continues to leverage the resources available to raise our community's profile as a global business destination.

COMMUNITY PROMOTION

The Beacon Council generates advertisements that remind audiences that economic development programs work for the betterment of the entire community. The new advertisements this year are more industry-specific to generate interest and leads.

Media engagement continues to be proactive with regular press releases, timely news conferences, emails and newsletters. The Beacon Council continues to answer inquiries and write thoughtful and inclusive Opinion pieces and/or Editorials.

NEW GIS WEBSITE SELECTION TOOL IS LAUNCHED

The Beacon Council, in partnership with Miami-Dade County launched a new geographic information system (GIS) site selection tool, www.miamidadesites.com, which features available sites & buildings, area demographics, industry data & analysis, and GIS mapping with live connection feeds directly from Miami-Dade County.

The Beacon Council was able to reach... a relatively high number of properties early on by partnering with the Miami Realtors Association and establishing a live data connection feed that uploads properties automatically on to the website. Through established partnerships with Florida Power & Light, Enterprise Florida, and local municipalities, The Beacon Council has been able to increase the exposure of available commercial properties and key area assets by establishing connections feeds into their respective systems or by providing customized widgets for these partners to place on their sites.

The Beacon Council provides members and guests with informative events that also include networking opportunities, create awareness of The Beacon Council, promote the county, raise funds to market Miami, and showcase the current targeted industries.

ENTERPRISE ZONE PROGRAM

During the past year, The Beacon Council has continued to advocate for the reauthorization of the Enterprise Zone program, which is scheduled to sunset pursuant to statute on December 31, 2015 unless the Florida Legislature acts to extend the sunset provision. Leadership in the Florida Senate has expressed their inclination to allow the Enterprise Zone program to expire. The Florida Enterprise Zone program is the only statewide program with the goal of revitalizing and rehabilitating distressed areas by encouraging business to locate or expand in designated zones. Miami-Dade County is the largest stakeholder in Florida and this program is used as an important economic development tool. In the last five years, Miami-Dade County, according to 2014 OPPAGA report, has received the lion’s share of the statewide Enterprise Zone incentives benefits receiving $68.2 million for fiscal years 2009-2010 through 2011-2012. The breakdown is as follows: In 2012, Miami-Dade’s Beacon Council completed 13 projects in Enterprise Zones that provided the following:

- 70 existing jobs retained in Miami-Dade County
- 1,205 total direct and indirect jobs created
- 482,511 sq. ft. occupied
- $46,840,718 in new capital investment

In the 2014 legislative session, the Florida Legislature did not reauthorize the Enterprise Zone program. Senate Bill (SB) 472 by Sen. Joe Abruzzo (D - Wellington) and House Bill (HB) 141 by Rep. Bobby Powell (D - West Palm Beach) would have reauthorized the Enterprise Zone Program. SB 472 and HB 141 died in committee.

During this legislative session, the Office of Economic and Demographic Research (EDR) released a report that narrowly defined “return on investment” and concluded that the Enterprise Zone program produced a negative return on investment to the state. After several conversations, EDR conceded that it did not evaluate the impact of Enterprise Zone incentives on the local economy and weigh the goals of the Enterprise Zone program.

The Beacon Council researches and examines relevant information for business operations

Joe Hovancak, Vice President, One Community One Goal at The Beacon Council; Tyler Lindberg, Intern at Miami Downtown Development Authority (MDDA); Robert Hesler, Senior Economic Analyst at the Miami-Dade County Department of Regulatory and Economic Resources; Will Corbin, Manager of the Research & Strategic Planning at The Beacon Council; Mario J. Sacasa, Senior Vice President of International Economic Development at The Beacon Council; Jaap Donath, Ph.D., Senior Vice President, Research & Strategic Planning at The Beacon Council; John Lucas, Miami-Dade County Regulatory and Economic Resources; Dr. J. Antonio Villamil, Chief Executive Officer at The Washington Economic Group; Anthony M. Graziano, Senior Managing Director at Integra Realty Resources; Nicholas Martinez, AICP, Applied Research Analytics at MDDA; and Glen Mowatt, Director of Acquisitions at TMSA Real Estate gathered together for a photo after a meeting on Sept. 12 at The Beacon Council.

In order to gain a competitive advantage in the marketplace, information is key. The Beacon Council offers a wealth of research to public and private organizations, businesses and media to increase the knowledge of Miami-Dade County and its global business advantages. From conducting market studies to providing online data, The Beacon Council helps local, national and international business executives with new location and expansion decisions. Throughout the 2013-2014 fiscal year, The Beacon Council Research Department provided cross-functional support by providing vital information for business assistance initiatives, economic impact analyses, presentations and media inquiries from around the world. The Research Department provides information and assists in drafting text for collateral materials and any other marketing publications. The Research Department also assists with press inquiries that require data on the local economy and the community.

In addition, The Beacon Council Research Department provides information on Miami-Dade County, including business costs (office space costs, wages and taxes), requested by companies and prospects. For 2013-2014, more than 150 research requests for data and information were processed.

The Research Department also provides data comparisons between Miami-Dade County and other areas in the United States. In addition, it conducts an economic impact analysis for any incentive that requires Miami-Dade County funding, such as the Florida Qualified Target Industry Tax Refund and the Miami-Dade Targeted Jobs Incentive Fund. During the 2013-2014 fiscal year, 28 economic impact analyses were prepared for companies (in many cases, multiple impact analyses are prepared for different scenarios).

The Research Department also develops PowerPoint presentations used by The Beacon Council departments. Each presentation is custom-made and includes pertinent information relevant to the audience.

The Research Department staff was also heavily involved in the One Community One Goal activities, including grant writing, the Report to the Community event and additional research for the target industries. In addition, the department is asked by business and community organizations to provide presentations and participate on panels as it relates to the local economy.

The Beacon Council’s Economic Roundtable, which meets quarterly, monitors and is a source of analysis of the local economy. It also tracks the progress made with the One Community One Goal initiative. The group is chaired by Dr. Tony Villamil of the Washington Economics Group. Dr. Villamil is the former Dean of the School of Business at St. Thomas University and was US Undersecretary of Commerce for Economic Affairs appointed by President George H.W. Bush. Members of the group are experts in a variety of fields, including real estate, trade, demographics and labor data, visitor industry and consumer data.

is to revitalize and rehabilitate distressed areas and enhance social wellbeing in the particular zones. As a result, The Beacon Council has a two-session strategy and is focused on laying the groundwork now with our State Legislative Delegation and others in leadership by working with Miami-Dade County and other key stakeholders to coordinate the advocacy strategies.

LOCAL BUSINESS TAX
In the final days of session there were several amendments filed onto legislation that implicated the local business tax laws. These amendments were successfully withdrawn or voted down on the House and Senate floor.

STATEWIDE FUNDING
The Beacon Council helped Enterprise Florida, our statewide economic development partners, to advocate for additional funding for the economic development toolkit. Florida Gov. Rick Scott had recommended a budget allocation of $3 million for the purpose of marketing Florida as a business state. No funding, however, was allocated for this purpose. Funding of incentives was successful with Enterprise Florida receiving $71 million for the economic development toolkit.

FILM INCENTIVES
SB 1630 and SB 1734 by Sen. Nancy Detert (R - Venice) and HB 893 by Rep. Manny Diaz (R - Hialeah) would have extended the film and entertainment incentive program and provided additional funding. These bills died in committee. A $20 million appropriation for film incentives was removed from the budget during the budget conference.
